FINGER OF TRAGEDY OVER CLEVELAND TODAY

COUNTING OFF DEAD IN FIRE AND EXPLOSIONS

FAMOUS CLINIC WAS TURNED INTO HONEYCOMB OF LETHAL
CHAMBERS

126 BODIES NOW LIE IN MORGUES
WITH SCORES OF VICTIMS IN HOSPITALS

Cleveland, May 16.—(UP)—The finger of tragedy rose and fell over Cleveland today, counting off the dead in the explosions and fire that turned its famous clinic into a honeycomb of lethal chambers. One hundred and twenty-six bodies lay in the morgues.

Sobs of relatives arose as identity of the dead was established.

Scores of other victims were in hospitals, some with poison fumes in their lungs and by no means out of danger.

The city remained dazed and horror-stricken. Ambulances clanged through the streets, enroute to the morgue with bodies, and to undertakers with identified dead.

Hours after the calamity, four firemen who helped in rescue work were stricken by gas poisoning. Blood transfusions were resorted to at Mt. Sinai hospital in an effort to save their lives.

A tri-fold investigation was under way to determine how the $500,000 clinic was transformed so suddenly yesterday noon into a charnel house of poison gas, flames and panic.

Gov. Myers Y. Cooper announced all state agencies had been ordered to join in the investigation. Coroner A. J. Pearce was to confer with all county officials to ascertain cause of the blasts and fire. An official commission was named by City Manager W. R. Hopkins to conduct a hearing.

Authorities agreed that the blame lay in the X-ray storage room in the basement of the four-story brick structure and that the deadly fumes swirled from ignited X-ray film. But they disagreed as to whether the clouds of dark yellow gas that snuffed out so many lives were nitrous peroxide or a bromine and iodine vapor.

Twelve bodies, seared and yellowed by the gas, were found in the X-ray room. Twelve other bodies, equally discolored, were taken from the roof. Between those points were many sprawled bodies of dead and injured.

A nurse was found lying dead across a wheel chair bearing a patient she had tried vainly to wheel to safety. Some patients were trapped and killed in bed. Others ran partly dressed toward exits, only to die before reaching safety.

Patients heard a muffled roar from the X-ray basement room. All fire doors immediately closed. Poison gas, generated from the explosion, was forced through the ventilator shaft by the heat.

Thin yellow wisps were seen straying onto the second floor, climbing upward through a court into the third and fourth floors and emerging from the blown-out skylight.

Those on the first floor ran out to safety or remained to warn persons on the floors above. Telephone operators stayed at their posts to give warnings. Confusion indescribable followed.

Fire raced up a rear stairway and spread. Fifteen minutes after the first explosion, a second came, driving rescuers back. Forty-five minutes later, a third occurred. Little of the building interior was left intact.

Persons standing outside were felled by the force of the first blast. One passerby was reported to have received a broken arm.

A policeman hurried up, smelled the fumes many yards away, and dashed to an alarm box. Soon ambulances, fire apparatus and commandeered automobiles formed a steady stream to the scene.

Ladders were strung to windows of the three upper floors. Policemen and firemen with gas masks carried out dead and injured.

Dr. George W. Crile, noted surgeon and head of the clinic, rushed from the operating room of the clinic hospital nearby and took charge of the medical aid. White-faced but calm, this wartime surgeon, decorated by many allied governments, directed the giving of first aid.

All through the day he labored and at night transferred his activities to the hospitals to which the injured had been taken.

As night fell, the morgue became the principal seat of tragedy. The bodies taxed the limits of the drab, gray structure. Police kept back the curious and permitted only relatives to view the dead.

Shrieks rose when wives, mothers

Farm Relief, Tariff Revision in a Sad Tangle

SNOW AND SLEET STORM ABATES; SUN SHINES AGAIN

St. Paul, May 16.—(UP)—The snow and sleet storm which swept over parts of Minnesota and Wisconsin late Wednesday had abated today and the sun shone in its best approved mid-May fashion.

Borne down from Canada on strong winds the storm raged for several hours and thrashed fruit and berry crops with perhaps serious results.

Temperatures fell approximately 40 degrees within a brief period to around the freezing point but today the mercury mounted rapidly and evidences of the storm vanished.

HOUSE LEADERS TO ACCEPT THE SENATE FARM BILL

WILL SEND IT TO CONFERENCE

DIFFERENCES BETWEEN TWO HOUSES TO BE AMICABLY
THRESHED OUT

Washington, May 16.—(UP)—In order not to block the farm relief legislation, house leaders agreed today to accept the senate farm bill and send it to a conference of committees representing the senate and house so that differences between the two houses may be amicably threshed out.

In reaching their decision, the leaders abandoned their old plan of sending the bill back to the senate because it contains the debenture clause to which they, like President Hoover, have strong objections.

and brothers broke in now and again. Among the dead were Dr. Charles E. Locke, brain specialist, and Dr. Edgar Hunte, expert on the clinic staff. Several nurses also lost their lives.

Dr. Carl Helwig bent over a cot at Mt. Sinai hospital to treat a victim of the explosion. The victim was dead. It was his wife, technician at the clinic hospital.

Patrolman Ernest Staab made the supreme sacrifice. He was one of the first to run into the blazing clinic. He emerged carrying a wounded patient.

Staab went back again and again. Some said he carried 21 persons from the building. He drove a police car into the rear yard of the hospital, helped carry in those rescued, and then collapsed. He died several hours later.

Mrs. W. L. Spellman of Forest, O., sat in an automobile outside the clinic waiting for her husband who had entered to make an appointment for her a few minutes before the first explosion.

"I guess he is in there helping; he is so helpful," she said.

Police did not tell her that Spellman was one of the dead. The wrecked clinic building remained under police guard today. In connection with the general belief that X-ray films caused most of the damage, it was pointed out that the fame of Cleveland Clinic is primarily based on the expert use of the X-ray in modern curing.

Cleveland, O., May 16.—As the death toll in the Cleveland Clinic explosion disaster reached 126 this afternoon, many of the rescuers were near death.

An order was issued by city officials for any who had come in contact with the gas which killed most of the victims to report for medical attention, no matter how slightly they had been affected.

Four firemen were in serious condition and were given blood transfusions. Doctors, nurses, police and citizens were in hospitals for treatment. Most of these had entered the fume-filled building in rescue work.

An automatic fire door that would not work was found today by Health Commissioner H. L. Rockwood who headed the first investigation at the scene of the explosions.

Had the door worked it would have shut off the room from the rest of the building and caused the deadly poison gas to be forced out to the

HAD STARTED OUT ON ROUTE
PREVIOUSLY TAKEN A YEAR AGO

Friedrichshafen, Germany, May 16.—(UP)—The Graf Zeppelin has abandoned her trip to America because of motor trouble and is returning here, it was officially announced tonight.

The Graf Zeppelin, with 18 passengers and a crew of 41, had started at 5:54 A. M., on her second trans-Atlantic voyage and had progressed favorably down the Mediterranean coast of Spain before the trouble developed which compelled her to turn back.

Dr. Hugo Eckener, commander of the dirigible, held a conference with the passengers at 6:35 P. M. (12:35 P. M. EST), the airship reported by radio. It was decided that, in view of the trouble, it would be too risky to attempt to cross the Atlantic.

While it was understood that engine trouble caused the return, officials at the Zeppelin works here still were unaware of the exact nature of the difficulty, the direct dispatches received here not stating whether it was motor or steering trouble.

(By United Press)

The Graf Zeppelin, world's first trans-Atlantic air liner, sailed swiftly down the Mediterranean coast of Spain this afternoon, headed for the Atlantic and America with 18 passengers, a crew of 41, and trans-Atlantic mails and freight.

Also aboard was Missy, a young female gorilla, the first of her kind ever to fly across the ocean.

The great silvery dirigible made only fair time down through France since leaving her base, Friedrichshafen, Germany, at 11:54 P. M. on Wednesday (EST). Her average to the Mediterranean was about 60 miles an hour.

The Zeppelin headed across Lake Constance from Friedrichshafen, passed over Switzerland, and crossed the border into France at Basle at 1:25 A. M. She headed southwest

Enormous Investment in College Education

Minneapolis, May 16.—(UP)—The enormous investment in college education cannot be justified unless life is made a better ordered and happier thing. Dr. H. W. Chase, president of North Carolina university, declared here today before 1,300 graduating students in the University of Minnesota cap and gown day exercises.

"If life is to become a better thing," Dr. Chase said, "we must have informed good will. It is only as with high purpose, calmly, and in the spirit of earnest search of truth that the intellect comes to play freely over the whole region of human affairs."

The exercises marked the formal beginning of the commencement program which will culminate in graduating exercises on June 17.

The weather encountered thus far had been fair, with some headwinds. The zeppelin apparently was following the route she took previously, past Gibraltar and Madeira to Bermuda and up the American coast from the Virginia Capes.

Unless she encounters tail winds to increase her speed, the airship seemed unlikely to arrive at her destination, Lakehurst, N. J., before late Sunday or Monday.

St. Paul, May 16.—(UP)—The 1929 Minnesota highway program was launched today when nearly $1,500,000 in contracts for 32.5 miles of paving, 68.7 or more miles of grading and numerous new culvert jobs were awarded to successful bidders by the state highway department.

At the same time, Charles M. Babcock, commissioner, revealed that bids on additional work would be opened on May 28.

The lion's share of the contracts announced today went to Charles Weaver, Anoka contractor, who received $539,281 worth of grading and culvert work.

Weaver's work will consist of 10.9 miles of grading and culverts on highway No. 32 near Greenbush; 18.8 miles of grading and culverts on No. 30 between Pelican Rapids and Shoreham; grading on the stretch of road on No. 32 between Holt and the North county line and 11.9 miles of grading and culverts on No. 59 between Spring Valley and the south state line.

Stanley Brothers, St. Cloud, also were among the contract winners by their low bid of $88,507 for an 11 mile stretch of grading and culverts on highway No. 3, between Alexandria and Osakis.

Paving contracts awarded included:

A. N. Nelson, Duluth, $160,031 for 8.4 miles on No. 1, between Knife River and Two Harbors.

12 PEOPLE ILL; FLOUR SAMPLES SHOW ARSENIC

Chicago, May 16.—(UP)—A wholesale plot to poison the family of Frank J. Reuhlmann and his friends was believed uncovered today, when samples of flour used at Reuhlmann's home showed trace of arsenic.

Twelve persons became ill after dining at the Reuhlmann home last Sunday night. The fact that they were suffering with poison was revealed when Health Commissioner Arnold Kegel completed an analysis of food served at the party.

It was learned the poison had been placed in a package of flour. A hole had been made in the package and about a cupful of arsenic poured in, Kegel said.

No motive for the poisoning could be learned.

WISCONSIN DRY LAW APPEAL UP TO GOVERNOR

BRINGS PERPLEXING PROBLEM TO EXECUTIVE, WALTER J.
KOHLER

MEASURE WAS PASSED 21 TO 9
BY THE STATE SENATE
YESTERDAY

Madison, Wis., May 16.—(UP)—A measure to repeal Wisconsin's state dry law lay on Gov. Walter J. Kohler's desk today, bringing him the first perplexing problem of his administration.

The Grobshmidt bill abolishing the state prohibition department and repealing the state enforcement act was passed 21 to 9 by the state senate yesterday, in agreement with the overwhelming demand made by voters in a statewide referendum several weeks ago.

How the millionaire governor will solve his problem has not been indicated, but drys are planning their hopes on a belief that he will veto the bill.

Gov. Kohler was elected after a campaign in which he allied himself with President Hoover's dry views, but with the paradoxical support of wets and drys. Kohler is a personal friend of Mr. Hoover and the president has asked support of the states in efforts to enforce national prohibition.

On the other hand there is the sweeping wet victory in the state at the recent referendum. Wets loudly disclaim this popular demand, evidenced by an almost 2 to 1 vote.

Should the governor choose to heed the president's request and veto the bill, wets were not over confident of their ability to override him.

The bill passed the senate by a majority more than the necessary two-thirds but that margin was not recorded in the assembly.

Having six days in which to consider the measure before it automatically would become law, whether or not he signed it, Governor Kohler is not expected to make known his decision until early next week.

$74,990 SENT OUT FOR WOLF BOUNTIES

St. Paul, May 16.—(UP)—To those Minnesotans who not only drove the wolves from their doors last winter but slew the pests and took their pelts, State Auditor Ray P. Chase today sent bounty checks which totalled $74,990.

The largest amount of the bounty money for one county went to St. Louis county where 930 wolves and 36 cubs were slain.

Only one wolf was reported killed in the vicinity of St. Paul.

Twice Indicted Because of Car Accident

Minneapolis, May 16.—(UP)—Alfred Eckman of Loretta, Minn., was twice indicted by the Hennepin county grand jury late Wednesday in connection with the recent deaths here of Mrs. Agnes Jorgensen and Mrs. Signe Bohler. The two Minneapolis women were struck and fatally injured by Eckman's automobile as they attempted to board a street car.

HOUSE STEERING COMMITTEE IS IN A QUANDARY

SHALL SENATE FARM BILL WITH DEBENTURE PROVISION BE RECEIVED?

OR SHALL IT BE THROWN BACK
AND TERMED IMPROPER
LEGISLATION

By PAUL R. MALLON
Washington, May 17.—The farm relief and tariff revision contests of President Hoover's special session of congress centered today in the house where both measures were involved in an intricate tangle.

The house steering committee was called to decide whether the senate's farm bill carrying the disputed debenture provision should be received and sent to conference or whether it should be thrown back at the senate with word that the house considers it improper legislation.

The "big three" of the house — Speaker Longworth, Leader Tilson and Rules Committee Chairman Snell — who usually get together and decide what the house is to do — are split on this issue. Tilson wants to receive the objectionable senate bill and send it to conference but Longworth and Snell favor rejecting it.

The same deadlock still engulfs the tariff bill. The ways and means committee is continuing hearings in an effort to appease the farm bloc. The hearings are to be concluded tomorrow, if possible, so the committee can draw a few amendments designed to win back the farm bloc's support for the bill.

Debate on the floor continues to reveal dissatisfaction with the measure. Recent charges have been directed toward the administrative features of the measure, giving the president control of the tariff commission.

Robbed of the limelight, the senate is considering the 1930 census and congressional reapportionment bill. Southern democrats are waging a vigorous contest against the measure.

Speaker Longworth predicted the house would finish its special session business by June 1 and recess for six weeks or two months. He said it was the plan of the senate to recess during the month of June, while its finance committee considered the tariff bill.

PROHIBITION AGENTS IN SERIES OF RAIDS

St. Paul, May 16.—(UP)—Under the direction of Maurice Silverman, north-west prohibition agents made a series of raids in southern Minnesota which resulted in the arrest of four men and two women on liquor charges, it was revealed at division headquarters here today.

Among those arrested were: Herman Yanke, Faribault. A quantity of "colored moonshine liquor" was confiscated, Silverman said.

Bessie Youngren, Henderson. Herman W. Zellmar and Frank Guyer, Waterville.

Alice and Arthur Hass, Belle Plaine. Silverman said that the prohibition department had recommended $3,000 bond for each of the arrested persons with the exception of Alice Hass, whose bond was to be placed at $2,000.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook Talks of Spy System

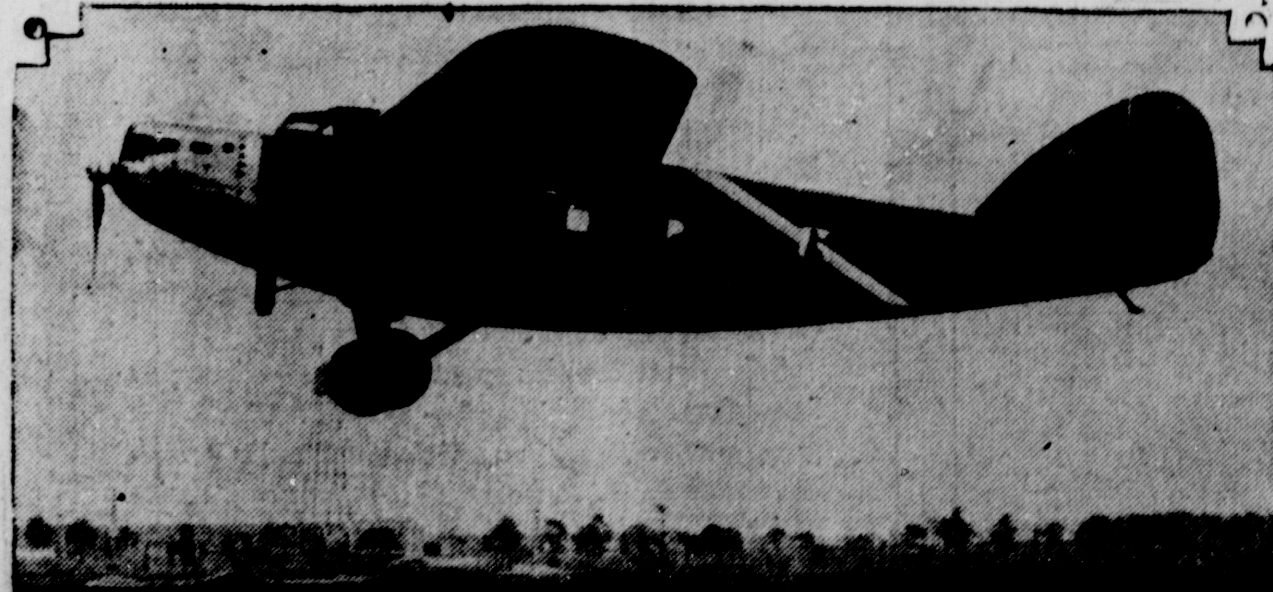

Leavenworth, Kan., May 16.—(UP)—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, self-styled discoverer of the North Pole, now editor of the New Era, publication at Leavenworth federal prison where he is an inmate, believes officials of prisons have no reason to complain over the spy system supposedly employed by Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt.

In the current issue of the New Era, Dr. Cook explains his views on the question which aroused a furore at the Atlanta federal penitentiary.

Under the caption of "Penal Reciprocity and Spies" Cook said that although he is not enthusiastic over the system, "the narcotic law and the Volstead act are mainly enforced by this system."

"It thus is a daily applied procedure in law—quite generally in common use to punish a private citizen. In what way, may I ask, does the power of this system change when it is directed against an official?"

MEASURE WAS PASSED 21 TO 9 BY THE STATE SENATE YESTERDAY

Madison, Wis., May 16.—(UP)—A measure to repeal Wisconsin's state dry law lay on Gov. Walter J. Kohler's desk today, bringing him the first perplexing problem of his administration.

The Grobbschmidt bill abolishing the state prohibition department and repealing the state enforcement act was passed 21 to 9 by the state senate yesterday, in agreement with the overwhelming demand made by voters in a statewide referendum several weeks ago.

How the millionaire governor will solve his problem has not been indicated, but drys are pinning their hopes on a belief that he will veto the bill.

Gov. Kohler was elected after a campaign in which he allied himself with President Hoover's dry views, but with the paradoxical support of wet and drys. Kohler is a personal friend of Mr. Hoover and the president has asked support of the states in efforts to enforce national prohibition.

On the other hand there is the sweeping wet victory in the state at the recent referendum. Wets loudly proclaim that the governor cannot disregard this popular demand, evidenced by an almost 2 to 1 vote.

Should the governor choose to heed the president's request and veto the bill, wets were not over confident of their ability to override him.

The bill passed the senate by a majority more than the necessary two-thirds but that margin was not recorded in the assembly.

Having six days in which to consider the measure before it automatically would become law, whether or not he signed it, Governor Kohler is not expected to make known his decision until early next week.

$74,990 SENT OUT FOR WOLF BOUNTIES

St. Paul, May 16.—(UP)—To those Minnesotans who not only drove the wolves from their doors last winter but slew the pests and took their pelts, State Auditor Ray P. Chase today sent bounty checks which totalled $74,990.

The largest amount of the bounty money for one county went to St. Louis county where 930 wolves and 36 cubs were slain.

Only one wolf was reported killed in the vicinity of St. Paul.

Twice Indicted Because of Car Accident

Minneapolis, May 16.—(UP)—Alfred Eckman of Loretta, Minn., was twice indicted by the Hennepin county grand jury late Wednesday in connection with the recent deaths here of Mrs. Agnes Jorgensen and Mrs. Signe Bohler. The two Minneapolis women were struck and fatally injured by Eckman's automobile as they attempted to board a street car.

HOUSE STEERING COMMITTEE IS IN A QUANDARY

SHALL SENATE FARM BILL WITH DEBENTURE PROVISION BE RECEIVED?

OR SHALL IT BE THROWN BACK AND TERMED IMPROPER LEGISLATION

By PAUL R. MALLON

Washington, May 17.—The farm relief and tariff revision contents of President Hoover's special session of congress centered today in the house where both measures were involved in an intricate tangle.

The house steering committee was called to decide whether the senate's farm bill carrying the disputed debenture provision should be received and sent to conference or whether it should be thrown back at the senate with word that the house considers it improper legislation.

The "big three" of the house — Speaker Longworth, Leader Tilson and Rules Committee Chairman Snell — who usually get together and decide what the house is to do — are split on this issue. Tilson wants to receive the objectionable senate bill and send it to conference but Longworth and Snell favor rejecting it.

The same deadlock still engulfs the tariff bill. The ways and means committee is continuing hearings in an effort to appease the farm bloc. The hearings are to be concluded tomorrow, if possible, so the committee can draw a few amendments designed to win back the farm bloc's support for the bill.

Debate on the floor continues to reveal dissatisfaction with the measure. Recent charges have been directed toward the administrative features of the measure, giving the president control of the tariff commission.

Robbed of the limelight, the senate is considering the 1930 census and congressional reapportionment bill. Southern democrats are waging a vigorous contest against the measure.

Speaker Longworth predicted the house would finish its special session business by June 1 and recess for six weeks or two months. He said it was the plan of the senate to recess during the month of June, while its finance committee considered the tariff bill.

PROHIBITION AGENTS IN SERIES OF RAIDS

St. Paul, May 16.—(UP)—Under the direction of Maurice Silverman, northern prohibition agents made a series of raids in southern Minnesota which resulted in the arrest of four men and two women on liquor charges, it was revealed at division headquarters here today.

Among those arrested were: Herman Yanke, Faribault. A quantity of "colored moonshine liquor" was confiscated, Silverman said.

Bessie Youngren, Henderson. Herman W. Zellmar and Frank Guyer, Waterville.

Alice and Arthur Hass, Belle Plaine. Silverman said that the prohibition department had recommended $3,000 bond for each of the arrested persons with the exception of Alice Hass, whose bond was to be placed at $2,000.

Dr. Frederick A. Cook Talks of Spy System

Leavenworth, Kan., May 16.—(UP)—Dr. Frederick A. Cook, self-styled discoverer of the North Pole, now editor of the New Era, publication at Leavenworth federal prison where he is an inmate, believes officials of prisons have no reason to complain over the spy system supposedly employed by Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt.

In the current issue of the New Era, Dr. Cook explains his views on the question which aroused a furore at the Atlanta federal penitentiary. Under the caption of "Penal Reciprocity and Spies" Cook said that although he is not enthusiastic over the system, "the narcotic law and the Volstead act are mainly enforced by this system."

"It thus is a daily applied procedure in law—quite generally in common use to punish a private citizen. In what way, may I ask, does the power of this system change when it is directed against an official?"

Triplex glass windshield will not shatter

FIGURES compiled by the Massachusetts Mutual Liability Insurance Association show that 65 per cent of automobile injuries are caused by flying glass. This same survey estimates that the use of safety glass in all automobiles would reduce the number of injured in the United States by as many as 350,000 annually.

It is easy to see, therefore, the safety value of the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshields of all the new Ford cars.

The use of shatter-proof glass in the new Ford, without extra cost, is just another indication of the quality that has been built into every part.

When you see this great new car—when you know the thrill of driving it—you will realize that it gives you everything you will want or need in a modern automobile . . . beautiful low lines and choice of a number of colors . . . quick acceleration . . . 55 to 65 miles an hour . . . vibration-absorbing engine support . . . four Houdaille hydraulic two-way shock absorbers . . . HOLD LIFE TOO CHEAP

FOR the past twelve or more years the metropolitan press of this country has continued to report a fearful number of homicides. In 1917 and 1918 some of the more serious minded but rather optimistic individuals who were greatly concerned with the wave of lawlessness that seemed to be sweeping the nation explained the situation as a result of the World war. They reasoned that the fearful slaughter of men on the battlefields of Europe had blunted the sensibilities of people so that they held human life too cheap. But it is now over a decade since the armistice was signed, and crime is still on the increase in this country. A large percentage of the murders are committed by boys under 21 years of age who must have been too young to have their sense of values distorted by the World war.

President Hoover in his address to the Associated Press in New York on April 22 on the subject of law enforcement stated that more than 9,000 human beings are lawlessly killed in the United States each year. That is, the toll of human lives taken each year is five times the entire population of this village.

President Hoover stated that "we are not suffering from an ephemeral crime wave but from a subsidence of our foundations."

The source of trouble seems to be deep-rooted and to lie principally in the utter lack of appreciation of the value of a human life. It would seem that conditions can be permanently improved only by beginning work at the foundation.—Long Prairie Leader.

WEAR A POPPY

THIS custom of wearing a poppy in memory of the men who lost their lives in the World War has a wide appeal because of its dual purpose of honoring the dead and serving the living.

Every poppy on a lapel on Memorial Day means that the wearer has thought of the men who lie beneath the poppies overseas, and has contributed something to the relief and rehabilitation of the men who are still fighting the long, long battle.

This work of making the poppies is begun early in the winter in the Minnesota Legion Auxiliary workshop in Minneapolis. Hands of disabled veterans, weary of idleness, are given employment shaping the little red flowers. Discouraged men whose spirits have sunk to despair from many months of unemployment are given the revivifying experience of again earning money. This money often means food, shelter and fuel for the winter for them.

The funds derived from the sale are used in giving to the disabled and their families aid which the government does not provide—groceries for the family of a veteran too sick to work, shoes for the children of a man in a government hospital, these are typical of the ways in which it is used. Every penny is expended for relief work, not a cent going for administration expenses or salaries.

These injured buddies deserve your help. May the poppies bloom over all the hearts of Brainerd on Decoration Day.

NORTHERN MINNESOTA EDITORS IN CONVENTION

SECRETARY ASA M. WALLACE, of the Northern Minnesota Editorial association, has announced that the annual summer outing of the association will be held at Breezy Point lodge, north of Brainerd, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 13, 14 and 15.

According to the announcement of Secretary Wallace, the outing this year will be confined strictly to newspaper folks, newspaper supply people and their ladies. Membership in either the Northern association or Minnesota Editorial association will be necessary in order to allow registration and participation in the events.

While the program has not been worked out as yet, it is planned to have a real three days outing that will be worth attending, with sports, swimming, fishing, dancing, golf, banquets, etc., to occupy the available time.

Breezy Point is one of the best known resorts in the north playground country, with everything necessary to make it a desirable meeting place, and the management has made attractive rates for the outing. An attractive program is being arranged, to make it worth while for the newspaper folks of the state to attend.

PRESIDENTS ARE HUMAN LIKE THE REST OF US

THERE is a pomp and power which hedges in a king and likewise, in lesser degree a president of the United States is supposed to carry in his bearing all the honor resulting from being executive of the greatest nation in the world.

There are duties to perform, procedure to be enforced, traditions to be kept as faithfully as precedents are observed. Even when a president goes fishing, he has his fringe of secret service men bordering his presence.

Raymond Clapper, United Press staff correspondent, writes that when it comes to presidents getting down to the level of just ordinary folks, Mr. Coolidge had a record that will stand a long time. Not long after he became president he returned to the executive mansion from his office late one warm afternoon and asked Dick Jarvis, chief of the secret service staff, to take a rocking chair out on the front porch for him. The horrified Jarvis suggested as tactfully as he could that no president ever had sat on the front porch of the White House, that they always used the more private rear portico.

But Mr. Coolidge was firm.
"I want to sit out here where I can see the street-cars," he said, pointing out to Pennsylvania Avenue.

ATTORNEY GENERAL YOUNGQUIST TO SPEAK

ATTORNEY GENERAL G. A. YOUNGQUIST will address the union meeting of Parents Teachers associations of the city at the Elks Temple Friday evening and the local committee in charge wishes to see a large attendance to greet the distinguished official.

There are six parent teachers associations in the city with an average membership of 50 each and they, of course, will be largely represented. But the public is invited too, for the message of the attorney general is one which no doubt will interest all people. The Choral club will sing several numbers.

YOUR personal property statements should be made out this month.

street through a ventilator, Dr. Rockwood said.
The door is the only entrance to the X-ray room. It is large, thick, metallic. The door works automatically, the temperature of the room releasing a lever when it reaches a certain heat. The lever closes the door.

The lever worked when fire broke out in the room Wednesday. But a heavy metal pipe, carrying either gas or water, stood in the direct path of the lever. This prevented the door from closing more than half way.

Dr. Rockwood also found that the ventilator did not work but pointed out that a draft carried the fumes through the open fire door, and thence through the building.

The investigators found that although the door could be opened and closed by hand it was impossible for it to function automatically because of the pipe.

A workman who left the door open just before the explosion was questioned by Police Captain Emmett J. Potts today. He said that he left the door open to go to the clinic hospital for tools, returned a few minutes later, resumed work and shortly after was hurled through a window by the force of the explosion.

Motor Cars Oddly Named

Some fanciful names were given many of the early makes of motor cars. A few of them, long out of the picture, were Autodynamic, in 1901; Buckmobile, in 1903; Brownicker, in 1908; Ben Hur, in 1917; Comet, in 1908; Dixie Flyer, in 1917; Every body's, in 1908; Gasmobile, in 1901; Great Smith, in 1911; Gentleman, in 1920; Mercury, in 1904; Motorette, in 1911; Mighty Michigan, in 1913; U. S. Long Distance, in 1903; and Veggie, in 1921.

"Americanists"

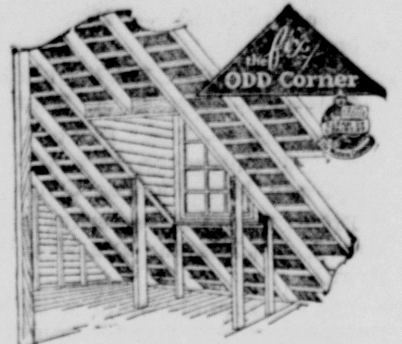

The French Societe Americaine de France was formed in 1857 by several French students who had become interested in the pre-Columbian civilization of South America and Mexico. There was an international meeting in 1875. In 1915-16 the nineteenth international congress of Americanists was held in Washington in conjunction with the anthropology section of the second Pan-American scientific congress.

IMPEACHMENT FAILS

AGAINST GOV. LONG

Baton Rouge, La., May 16.—(UP)—Governor Huey P. Long of Louisiana today won his fight with the state legislature, which sought to impeach him.

All charges against him were dropped and the senate court of impeachment adjourned sine die.

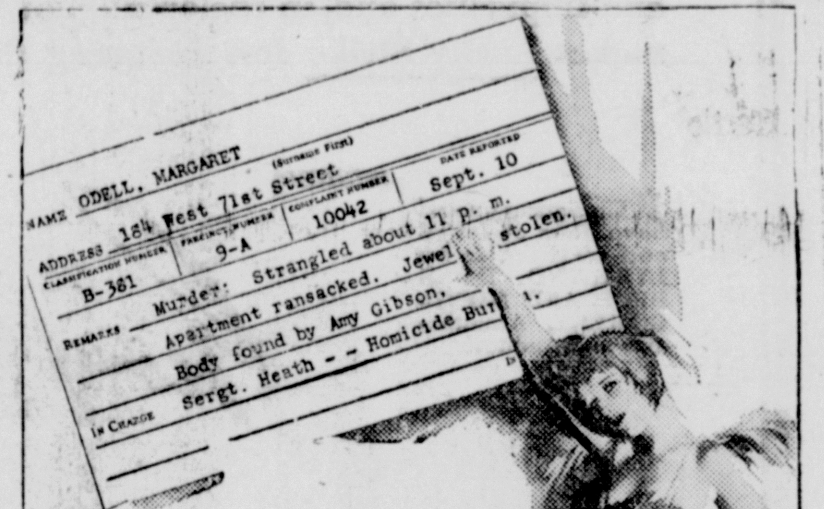

How about the GARRET?

Up under the rafters there is apt to be dust, trash, an accumulation of things which might just as well be thrown away. Fire is encouraged, too. Wall board can easily make an attic an attractive "extra room." For example Clean Up, Fix Up and then Paint Up, and discover if this is not wholly true.

But it is now over a decade since the armistice was signed, and crime is still on the increase in this country. A large percentage of the murders are committed by boys under 21 years of age who must have been too young to have their sense of values distorted by the World war.

President Hoover in his address to the Associated Press in New York on April 22 on the subject of law enforcement stated that more than 9,000 human beings are lawlessly killed in the United States each year. That is, the toll of human lives taken each year is five times the entire population of this village.

President Hoover stated that "we are not suffering from an ephemeral crime wave but from a subsidence of our foundations."

The source of trouble seems to be deep-rooted and to lie principally in the utter lack of appreciation of the value of a human life. It would seem that conditions can be permanently improved only by beginning work at the foundation.—Long Prairie Leader.

WEAR A POPPY

THIS custom of wearing a poppy in memory of the men who lost their lives in the World War has a wide appeal because of its dual purpose of honoring the dead and serving the living.

Every poppy on a lapel on Memorial Day means that the wearer has thought of the men who lie beneath the poppies overseas, and has contributed something to the relief and rehabilitation of the men who are still fighting the long, long battle.

This work of making the poppies is begun early in the winter in the Minnesota Legion Auxiliary workshop in Minneapolis. Hands of disabled veterans, weary of idleness, are given employment shaping the little red flowers. Discouraged men whose spirits have sunk to despair from many months of unemployment are given the revivifying experience of again earning money. This money often means food, shelter and fuel for the winter for them.

The funds derived from the sale are used in giving to the disabled and their families aid which the government does not provide—groceries for the family of a veteran too sick to work, shoes for the children of a man in a government hospital, these are typical of the ways in which it is used. Every penny is expended for relief work, not a cent going for administration expenses or salaries.

These injured buddies deserve your help. May the poppies bloom over all the hearts of Brainerd on Decoration Day.

NORTHERN MINNESOTA EDITORS IN CONVENTION

SECRETARY ASA M. WALLACE, of the Northern Minnesota Editorial association, has announced that the annual summer outing of the association will be held at Breezy Point lodge, north of Brainerd, on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, June 13, 14 and 15.

According to the announcement of Secretary Wallace, the outing this year will be confined strictly to newspaper folks, newspaper supply people and their ladies. Membership in either the Northern association or Minnesota Editorial association will be necessary in order to allow registration and participation in the events.

While the program has not been worked out as yet, it is planned to have a real three days outing that will be worth attending, with sports, swimming, fishing, dancing, golf, banquets, etc., to occupy the available time.

Breezy Point is one of the best known resorts in the north playground country, with everything necessary to make it a desirable meeting place, and the management has made attractive rates for the outing. An attractive program is being arranged, to make it worth while for the newspaper folks of the state to attend.

PRESIDENTS ARE HUMAN LIKE THE REST OF US

THERE is a pomp and power which hedges in a king and likewise, in lesser degree a president of the United States is supposed to carry in his bearing all the honor resulting from being executive of the greatest nation in the world.

There are duties to perform, procedure to be enforced, traditions to be kept as faithfully as precedents are observed. Even when a president goes fishing, he has his fringe of secret service men bordering his presence.

Raymond Clapper, United Press staff correspondent, writes that when it comes to presidents getting down to the level of just ordinary folks, Mr. Coolidge had a record that will stand a long time. Not long after he became president he returned to the executive mansion from his office late one warm afternoon and asked Dick Jervis, chief of the secret service staff, to take a rocking chair out on the front porch for him. The horrified Jervis suggested as tactfully as he could that no president ever had sat on the front porch of the White House, that they always used the more private rear portico.

But Mr. Coolidge was firm.

"I want to sit out here where I can see the street-cars," he said, pointing out to Pennsylvania Avenue.

ATTORNEY GENERAL YOUNGQUIST TO SPEAK

ATTORNEY GENERAL G. A. YOUNGQUIST will address the union meeting of Parents Teachers associations of the city at the Elks Temple Friday evening and the local committee in charge wishes to see a large attendance to greet the distinguished official.

There are six parent teachers associations in the city with an average membership of 50 each and they, of course, will be largely represented. But the public is invited too, for the message of the attorney general is one which no doubt will interest all people. The Choral club will sing several numbers.

street through a ventilator, Dr. Rockwood said.
The door is the only entrance to the X-ray room. It is large, thick, metallic. The door works automatically, the temperature of the room releasing a lever when it reaches a certain heat. The lever closes the door.

The lever worked when fire broke out in the room Wednesday. But a heavy metal pipe, carrying either gas or water, stood in the direct path of the lever. This prevented the door from closing more than half way.

Dr. Rockwood also found that the ventilator did not work but pointed out that a draft carried the fumes through the open fire door, and thence through the building.

The investigators found that although the door could be opened and closed by hand it was impossible for it to function automatically because of the pipe.

A workman who left the door open just before the explosion was questioned by Police Captain Emmett J. Potts today. He said that he left the door open to go to the clinic hospital for tools, returned a few minutes later, resumed work and shortly after was hurled through a window by the force of the explosion.

Daphne by HAZEL LIVINGSTON

WHAT HAS HAPPENED SO FAR.

TO escape the nagging of a stepmother and the selfishness of her stepfather, Daphne Haines, seventeen and beautiful, leaves home determined to make her own living. She has a difficult time in San Francisco and nearly starves until she encounters Ralph McKevitt, family friend, wealthy and handsome, whom her half-sister, Crystal, has decided to marry for luxury and comfort, rather than love. Ralph soon wins Daphne's affection, and she is exquisitely happy until Crystal appears. Crystal uses McKevitt as a "good thing," but spends much time with a debonnaire Bohemian, Avery Woodward, who promises to teach her much of life and love and art. Unhappy because Ralph obviously neglects her now, Daphne moons and dreams until she reduces her efficiency to a point where she loses her position. Ill with humility and fright, she sits in the park. Suddenly she discovers Ralph driving along in a smart roadster. She hails him. He seems enthusiastic over their meeting, and she feels reassured that he still cares for her. She tells him her troubles and he promises to help her. Meanwhile Crystal is making more demands on Ralph's time and purse. He is annoyed, but he reasons, Crystal is a helpless type of girl, and he must stand by her. Daphne becomes secretary to a prominent elderly lawyer, who takes a fatherly interest in her. She is overjoyed when he invites her and Ralph to his home, and with the aid of Miss Viola manages to get a new dress for the occasion. Ralph sends Allan Winters, a friend, in his place. Her new dress now seems a gigantic failure.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY.

CHAPTER XXII.

DAPHNE slumped in her seat. The weariness that she had been too excited to feel before settled on her like a weight.

"He found out too late to phone you," this Allan Winters who was driving her away, had said.

Too late! She wanted to laugh and cry at the same time. Too late! When she had sat up till morning, washing her hair, polishing her nails, finishing the dress she thought he would like so much. She reached for her handkerchief and buried her nose in it, wiping off the powder, but what did it matter? Ralph wasn't here.

They drove to the ferry that was to carry them across the bay to the Marin side, in silence. Daphne huddled in her corner, looking straight ahead. Out of the corner of her eye she could see Allan Winters beside her, intent on the wheel. He drove with a curious little pucker of concentration between his eyebrows and a frown half smile around the corner of his mouth.

"It's getting a thrill out of driving Ralph's car!" she thought, with a flash of intuition. She took another look. He was about Ralph's age she knew, but he looked younger, and older too. There were tired lines around his eyes, but he lacked the assurance that made Ralph so fascinating.

He looked at her and grinned. "Some car!" She grinned back, and without any particular reason their shyness melted, they seemed to have known each other a long time.

"I won't spoil his day just because mine is spoiled," she thought, and it came to her that perhaps it wasn't entirely spoiled. There was still the long drive, and Boli-aas, and Mr. Greely's cottage . . .

"Gosh, I haven't had any breakfast, have you?" he asked after they were on the boat.

She hadn't either, so they wriggled their way through the closely packed cars on the dock and went below to the restaurant where there was a pleasant smell of bread, roasting, and salt wind from the open portholes, and coffee bubbling in the big urns. They climbed on high stools at a long counter, and ate huge stacks of hotcakes, exchanging syrupy smiles.

The green water bobbed by the windows. A child's excited laughter rose above the hum of the engines. A hiker tinkled a ukulele. Sunday papers rattled. Holiday crowds. Holiday faces. Everybody was having a glorious time. Even Daphne.

And then the boat was coming into the slip and they had to scramble back through the long line of cars, with Daphne giggling. "It was that last hotcake that made us late—I shouldn't have stopped for it—but it was so good!"

They sped along by the sea, until they had left the smooth highway behind, and begun the winding drive by the cliffs, with the surf booming below, and the spray breaking . . . can you be sad on such a day?

"This was a stroke of luck for me," he confided, "borrowing Ralph's car, and his girl—"

Ralph's girl . . . Ralph must have said that.

Her gray eyes widened, the amber flecks in the gray shone like sunlight through deep water. Her face glowed, the dimple at the corner of her mouth flickered. "I'm mighty glad you could come!" she breathed. She wanted to be nice, ever so nice, to Ralph's friend who knew Ralph loved her, who knew she was . . . Ralph's girl.

And Allan—"good old Al!"—who had never owned a car, but a rattling old flivver the Summer he was 16, and was used to working Sundays, trying to get ahead, to pay off the debts . . . was it any wonder that this was a red-letter day for him?

Ralph's car and Ralph's girl. He'd been learning about Ralph's girls ever since their freshman year at college. Dorothy and Gwen and Ila, and Alice, and the brown-eyed one that went into the movies, nice girls all of them, for Ralph had taste, and they all fell for him. No wonder. A fellow like Ralph! But it didn't mean anything, it never had, unless it was the honey-colored Crystal . . . sometimes he thought he might be serious about her . . . but this wasn't the Crystal one . . . How was he to know that this was something different?

He stole another look at the flower-like Daphne. He liked the soft black cloud of her hair, her candid black-fringed eyes, her tilted nose, her frank red mouth. And she was so gentle and natural. So different from the others . . . "Ralph's a prince!" he murmured, half to himself.

"Mmm—" Daphne hadn't even heard what he said. Her thoughts were far away. Content settled on them both. He pulled off his cap and the wind ruffled his hair until it stood up in a short, shaggy brown stubble, like an Airedale's hair. He sang, under his breath, a little out of key. When they passed a flock of wild geese winging their way in wedge-shaped formation far out to sea he shouted. "Gee whizz—look at them—aren't they great?"

She nodded, faintly smiling. "Isn't he the big kid?" A real affection for the plain-looking stranger with the twinkling blue eyes and the rough, funny hair, welled in her heart.

"I'd like him to be like that," she thought. "When Ralph and I are married I'm going to invite him to our house, lots. I wonder if he'd like Miss Yardley? Of course, she isn't pretty, but she's awfully nice."

It occurred to her that he could tell her many things about Ralph, things she longed to know. About the sort of little boy he used to be, about his football days, when she used to save his pictures and never dreamed she'd ever really know him.

"You've known Ralph for ages, haven't you?" she asked.

"All my life. He's my best friend."

"And did you—were you on the team at Stanford too?"

A shadow passed over his thin face. "No, I wasn't."

Daphne could have bitten off her tongue. What a crazy question! Of course poor Allan Winters couldn't have been on the team with Ralph, he wasn't nearly husky enough.

"I think Ralph was always kind of an ideal to me," he admitted. "He was so everything I wasn't. You know, big and strong, and all the girls so crazy about him."

She drew a long breath at that, but she might have known it . . . Crystal for instance . . .

He went on, speaking in the jerky, rather hesitant way he had. "Best friend I ever had. When we had a . . . well . . . a bunch of hard luck in our house, and when my dad . . . my dad died . . . I was just finishing H, and it looked like a milk route or gentleman's furnishings for me, but Ralph wouldn't have it, and he made such a darn fuss about not going to college unless I did that I went on the McKevitt cash. He stuck to me all through. I can never make it up to him. . . oh, I'm paying it back of course, and I worked all I could—"

He saw her eyes shining, her whole face illumined. She was hanging on his words.

"It isn't quite paid yet—," he finished lamely.

Her small, white face turned scarlet . . . she'd let this perfect stranger see that she loved Ralph. She twisted her hands in her lap, gulped and said the first thing that came into her tortured head:

"I think it's perfectly wonderful for a boy to do that—to work his way through that way and pay it back so quick—and—"

It was his turn to color. "Oh—it wasn't anything—"

"Oh but it was—I know how hard it is to—"

"I'd have paid it long ago, only there were other . . . other obligations I had . . . but it's almost settled now, thank God."

His jaw was set, he was driving furiously over the rough road. She clung to the handle of the door, amazed at the change in him. Was he "showing off" or what?

They rounded the curve, and the village came in sight. A few houses, vine covered and dusty, sleepy in the sun. A few dogs playing in the road. The long line of beach. A few children on the sands, a few fishermen in the surf. He pointed up the hill. "There's the Greelys' place!" If she had looked into his eyes then she might have read them. She might have seen the beginning of Allan Winters' love.

But Daphne was looking up the hill at the green-shuttered, weather-stained house, thinking. "Isn't it sweet? Oh, if Ralph were only here to see it, too!"

CASE OF NEW YORK GIANTS BAFFLES BASEBALL WORLD

ONE OF BEST CLUBS IN LEAGUE IN 7TH PLACE

HUNTING FOR FLAW IS LIKE HUNTING FOR NEEDLE IN HAYSTACK

By GEORGE KIRKSEY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

New York, May 16.—The strange case of the New York Giants is baffling the baseball world.

Most of the National League managers and leading players agree that the Giants have one of the best clubs in the league, but they are in seventh place today, having won only seven out of eighteen games.

Hunting for the flaw is like hunting for a needle in a haystack. The Giants have had no serious misfortunes to handicap them. Andy Reese and Andy Cohen were put out of the line-up with injuries at the same time and Mel Ott had to be brought in from right field to play second base in one game, but Reese is back in the game.

You must look farther than injuries to discover the Giants' ailment. John McGraw's absence from the team because of sinus trouble may have played its part, but the Giants have been without McGraw before and still been able to win games.

McGraw has two capable assistants in Ray Schalk and Bert Hiehoff, smart, veteran players who have themselves piloted ball clubs.

McGraw refused to believe that the Giants are not pennant contenders and he sticks to the theory that they will throw off their slump any day now.

"I'd be foolish to say that the Giants don't have me worried," he said. "I don't know what's wrong with them. If I did I would correct it. But just wait. When we get going, we are going to be as hard to stop as we were to start."

'Y' and S. S. Meet In Opener This Afternoon

The Y. M. C. A. and South Side were meeting in the opening game of the city baseball league this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the Rosko Aviation Field, South 13th street.

The new field is being given a tryout by the teams of the city, the wet condition of the ground at the city diamond being such as to prevent play there at the present time.

The diamond at the Rosko field has been rolled and is now in good condition for play.

The South Side is doped to win the league opener.

Chicago White Sox 8 to 4 win over the Boston Red Sox. Kamm hit two doubles and a single.

Manush's double, Schulte's triple and Kress's single drove in two runs in the eighth inning and the St. Louis Browns beat the Washington Senators, 5 to 3.

Mike Cuyler stopped the Braves after they had batted Guy Bush out of the box in the fourth inning and the Chicago Cubs beat Boston, 7 to 4. Kiki Cuyler returned to the Cubs' lineup and hit a homer with a man on base.

Battling in the late innings the St. Louis Cardinals continued their neck and neck race with the Cubs for first place in the National League by winning from the Phillies, 4 to 1.

Two rookies—Joe Stripp and Evar Swanson—played hero roles as Cincinnati swept the series with the New York Giants, 12 to 3. Stripp hit two homers and drove in four runs.

Babe Herman hit one of the longest home runs ever made inside Ebbets field but Brooklyn dropped its eighth straight game to Pittsburgh, 9 to 4.

PIKE REPORTED BITING SLOW; LIMIT FIXED AT EIGHT PER DAY

Today found thousands of fishermen wetting their lines in lakes of the Brainerd district, the season for pike and pickerel having opened yesterday.

Scores of fishermen braved the elements yesterday at Mille Lacs lake but the fishing was poor. Reports from that section today are to the effect that pike are biting but not as fast as in previous season opening days.

The season on bass opens June 21 in the northern zone, which includes the Brainerd lake district.

DEMPSEY HAS NO IDEA OF 'COMING BACK'

New York, May 16.—(U.P.) Jack Dempsey has no definite intention of returning to the ring, he told the United Press today, in answer to reports that he had received an offer of $800,000 to fight at Tia Juana, and another of $500,000 for a bout in Chicago.

"I have received no offer attractive enough to induce me to return to the ring," he said. "I refused an offer of $250,000 yesterday for a fight in Montreal."

At Montreal Dempsey declared that he would demand $1,000,000 for another bout.

"I might consider an offer for a bout in the fall," he said, "providing, of course, that the purse was large enough and a suitable opponent was named. At present there is no outstanding heavy-weight."

'Y' and S. S. Meet In Opener This Afternoon

The Y. M. C. A. and South Side were meeting in the opening game of the city baseball league this afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the Rosko Aviation Field, South 13th street.

The new field is being given a tryout by the teams of the city, the wet condition of the ground at the city diamond being such as to prevent play there at the present time.

The diamond at the Rosko field has been rolled and is now in good condition for play.

The South Side is hoped to win the league opener.

Chicago White Sox 8 to 4 win over the Boston Red Sox. Kamm hit two doubles and a single.

Manush's double, Schulte's triple and Kress' single drove in two runs in the eighth inning and the St. Louis Browns beat the Washington Senators, 5 to 3.

Mike Cuyler stopped the Braves after they had batted Guy Bush out of the box in the fourth inning and the Chicago Cubs beat Boston, 7 to 4. Kiki Cuyler returned to the Cubs' lineup and hit a homer with a man on base.

Rallying in the late innings the St. Louis Cardinals continued their neck and neck race with the Cubs for first place in the National league by winning from the Phillies, 4 to 1.

Two rookies—Joe Stripp and Evar Swanson—played hero roles as Cincinnati swept the series with the New York Giants, 12 to 3. Stripp hit two homers and drove in four runs.

Babe Herman hit one of the longest home runs ever made inside Ebbets field but Brooklyn dropped its eighth straight game to Pittsburgh, 9 to 4.

Players to make the Fargo trip are: Nutting, Bedal, Loom, Hanson, Uddenberg, Peterson, Ringer, Swanson, S. Erickson, Richmond and Erickson.

Fans will give a benefit dance at Little Pine tonight for the team.

MANY WET LINES IN PIKE LAKES TODAY

PIKE REPORTED BITING SLOW; LIMIT FIXED AT EIGHT PER DAY

Today found thousands of fishermen wetting their lines in lakes of the Brainerd district, the season for pike and pickerel having opened yesterday.

Scores of fishermen braved the elements yesterday at Mille Lacs lake but the fishing was poor. Reports from that section today are to the effect that pike are biting but not as fast as in previous season opening days.

The season on bass opens on June 21 in the northern zone, which includes the Brainerd lake district.

Grow More Alfalfa

One way for farmers to avoid paying high prices for clover seed to get legumes is to apply more lime and soy alfalfa where it can be grown, says specialists at the Pennsylvania State college.

Rice plays an important part in the life of Japan. It takes pride of place at all great ceremonies, which would be void without the use of sake, a drink brewed from the grain.

DEMPEY HAS NO IDEA OF 'COMING BACK'

New York, May 16.—(U.P.)—Jack Dempsey has no definite intention of returning to the ring, he told the United Press today, in answer to reports that he had received an offer of $800,000 to fight at Tia Juana, and another of $500,000 for a bout in Chicago.

"I have received no offer attractive enough to induce me to return to the ring," he said. "I refused an offer of $250,000 yesterday for a fight in Montreal."

At Montreal Dempsey declared that he would demand $1,000,000 for another bout.

"I might consider an offer for a bout in the fall," he said, "providing, of course, that the purse was large enough and a suitable opponent was named. At present there is no outstanding heavy-weight."

LEEVE BREAKS POSSIBLE FROM CAIRO TO HELENA

THE RISING MISSISSIPPI BRINGS FLOOD TREATS IN THE SOUTH

HUNDRED MEN WITH 50,000 SANDBAGS WATCHING THE WEAK POINTS

Memphis, Tenn., May 16.—(UP)—Government engineers today assembled all available reserves to prevent possible levee breaks along a 250-mile front from Cairo to Helena on the rising Mississippi river.

More than a hundred men with 50,000 sandbags have been despatched to southeast Missouri, eastern Kentucky and northeast Arkansas to watch weak points on levees.

Engineers believed there was no immediate danger of breaks but said they were on the alert and preparing for any emergency. Levee patrols were busy at many northern points.

Predictions by Meteorologist F. W. Brist, Memphis, that the river would reach the highest stages over the entire front since the disastrous floods of 1927, led to the unusual precautions.

JURY EXONERATES CHARLES ISLE

Returns Verdict of Not Guilty in District Court at 10:30 P. M. Thursday

DELIBERATED 8½ HOURS

Defense Maintained That Tollefson Brought Wood to Isle Home to Pay Debt

Charles Isle was found not guilty by a Crow Wing county jury last evening of the theft of wood from the Twin Island school.

The jury returned to the district court room at 10:30 o'clock, after deliberating for eight and one half hours.

Hilding Swanson was attorney for Isle with County Attorney Arthur J. Sullivan conducting the state's case.

The defense based its case on the contention that Clarence Tollefson who pleaded guilty to the theft of wood from the school and who received a sentence of not to exceed two years at the St. Cloud reformatory, brought the stolen wood to Isle's home in payment on a debt.

The state claimed that Tollefson was taking the "jolt" and was shielding Isle.

The case now being tried before Judge Graham Torrance in district court is that of the state vs. Clifford Sweet, charged with abandonment of a child.

The fire department answered the alarm at 3 a. m., remaining there for three quarters of an hour. The blaze was caused by sparks from the chimney.

Residents in the house were notified of the fire after the alarm had been turned in by a nearby resident. The dwellers were able to dress from night clothing to street wear before leaving the burning building.

Two lights are seen on the horizon—one the fast fading marsh light of power; and the other the slowly rising sun of human brotherhood.—John P. Altgeld.

Phrase That Counts

It is a little thing to speak a phrase of common comfort, which by daily use has almost lost its sense; yet on the ear of him who thought to die unmourned it will fall like choicest music.—Talfourd.

Have No Games of Skill

Games played by American Indians may be divided into two general classes. Games of chance and games of dexterity. Games of pure skill and calculation, such as chess, are entirely absent.

Dad Says—
"The roof makes such a difference"

Of course John, we want a roof that's awfully good looking but first we want to be sure that it's absolutely weatherproof and won't catch fire from chimney sparks. Dad put Bird's Paroid Roofing on his farm buildings twenty years ago and it's still good.

He suggests we go to the Bird Dealer here and look at the Hex-Twins Bird & Son make. They will last for years—they are fire resisting and—they are Beautiful.

One Thin Woman

One woman gained 15 pounds in five weeks and that's going fast enough for anyone.

McCoy takes all the risk—Read this ironclad guarantee. If after taking 4 sixty cent boxes of McCoy's Tablets or 2 One Dollar boxes any thin, underweight man or woman doesn't gain at least 5 pounds and feel completely satisfied with the marked improvement in health—your money will be returned.

Pimples

Pimples vanish like magic with the new remedy called Kitagran—a pleasant, harmless tablet easy to take. It clears up the impurities in the blood so quickly that pimples often disappear within 24 hours. Kitagran can be obtained at Johnson's Pharmacy and leading druggists who will return purchase price if you are not thoroughly satisfied.

Piles Go Quick

Piles are caused by congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause. That's why salves and cutting fail. Dr. Leonhardt's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds, because it relieves this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has given quick, safe and lasting relief to thousands of Pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. H. P. Dunn, Johnson's Pharmacy and druggists everywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee. advt.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderly at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25¢ today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store, Johnson's Pharmacy and Economy Drug Company. advt

Pimples

Pimples vanish like magic with the new remedy called Kitagran—a pleasant, harmless tablet easy to take. It clears up the impurities in the blood so quickly that pimples often disappear within 24 hours. Kitagran can be obtained at Johnson's Pharmacy and leading druggists who will return purchase price if you are not thoroughly satisfied.

Piles Go Quick

Piles are caused by congestion of blood in the lower bowel. Only an internal remedy can remove the cause. That's why salves and cutting fail. Dr. Leonard's Hem-Roid, a harmless tablet, succeeds, because it relieves this congestion and strengthens the affected parts. Hem-Roid has given quick, safe and lasting relief to thousands of Pile sufferers. It will do the same for you or money back. H. P. Dunn, Johnson's Pharmacy and druggists everywhere sell Hem-Roid with this guarantee. advt.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause." But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose. Stop suffering from constipation. Chew a Rexall Orderly at night. Next day bright. Get 24 for 25¢ today at the nearest Rexall Drug Store, Johnson's Pharmacy and Economy Drug Company. advt.
